

Welcome

If you are like most people who come to me for help, then most likely:

- You have one or more health conditions that have become chronic.
- You have probably tried conventional medicine or even alternative practitioners and did not get the results you hoped for.
- These conditions are impacting your personal life, your relationships with your spouse or children, your career or job performance, and/or your personal finances.
- You know that as time goes by, these conditions are not going to get better and will probably continue to worsen unless you change what you are doing, and do something really effective about it.

If this describes you and you are ready to make a real demand for improvement that will put you back in charge of your own health, then you have come to the right place.

Everyday I experience the remarkable courage it takes to face illness — in all its deep complexity and unique challenges. I am consistently awed by my patients' tenacity and willingness to do whatever it takes to heal.

Many of my patients are referred to me after they've "tried it all", and feel discouraged by the myriad treatments that were insufficient, failed completely, or ultimately did not maintain the wellness they achieved. They often arrive with a mix of hope and despair — along with the hesitation of trusting yet another health care practitioner with the most precious gift they have: their health.

Most of all, the people who come to me are ready to go the distance — to show up powerfully for their own recovery and dare to dream of a life after illness. They recognize that this process is never a straight line, and that being present and responsible for their own healing doesn't always look or feel heroic.

I understand and respect the gravity of illness and recovery; how it can bring a person to the very edge of what they believe is possible in both its extremes of pain and joy; It is my life's work to help my patients heal — their courage is one of the reasons that I work passionately and tirelessly to design individual healing plans and consistently conduct breakthrough research.
Working With Me

The body is a profoundly wise self-healing organism, but it can become overwhelmed and need help to properly do its job. My work is to help reinstitute homeostasis — the ability of the body to take care of itself when it encounters challenges. It takes a high degree of experience, understanding, and expertise to genuinely grasp what is preventing this in my patients, and how to fix it. I sit squarely in a partnership position with my patients and support them as active agents of their own health.

All of my patients are unique in their treatment, but one thing they have in common is that they are ready to take responsibility for their own health and are able to trust me as their partner in their healing journey. Once we commit to go through this process together, I am dedicated to providing effective, expert-level care and treatment with the highest regard for each individual patient. Together, we'll build a bridge from illness to health and walk it together — even if it's skyscraper-high, unpredictable, or frightening.

My Distinctive Approach

My approach is biochemically and neurologically informed, holistically oriented and cause directed. Unlike more conventional models of treatment, I operate with the knowledge and understanding that every individual body is unique — therefore my treatment and protocols are wholly distinct for each patient. Like taking a dark lamp shade off of a bright light, I believe that once we remove whatever is blocking the body from its natural state of health, it can be brought back to balance — and kept there through preventative measures.

I work on individual cases with simultaneous attention to the overall picture and the specific particulars of the patient's nervous and immune systems. I look beyond diagnosis (which is mainly symptom descriptions and therefore treated as symptom management). My work involves identifying, measuring, tracking, and treating at a level that most practitioners have never seen before; and my measurement process occurs at a molecular, intercellular level — in real time.

My broad-level research includes effects that modern living has on the human body — issues such as environment, mass food production, and public health — and I often anticipate problems and develop solutions years before others are even aware of them.

Ultimately, my work sits at a cross-roads of historic clinical expertise and extensive knowledge, combined with the capacity to integrate what I discover in my extensive research. Possessing both of these characteristics is rare, and it's why my patients obtain different results than with every other practitioner they've worked with.

My multi-disciplinary approach includes:

- Chiropractic
- Cranial Manipulation
- Clinical Nutrition
- Molecular Biochemistry
- Homeopathy
- Kinesiology
- Biochemistry
- Endocrinology
- Acupuncture Theory
- Neurology

I look forward to entering into this healing journey with you.

Dr. Brant Larsen

Dr. Brant Larsen, D.C.